Do you ever feel like the busyness of life is consuming you?
We were pretty much forced to slow down for over a year, and now that things are picking back up, life just feels busier than ever! Take a few minutes to ponder the following question.
How have you seen the hand of God reaching out to you today?